

Accessing the GFJI Listserv

The GFJI listserv is a private, passworded list.

If you want to access the archives and information on the shared web section (which includes past meeting notes and historical documents) go to <http://www.riseup.net/> and choose the 'login to list' option in the section titled 'lists.riseup.net'. Our list name is 'growing_foodandjustice'. You can put in your email address as a login and choose a password by following the prompts on this page. It is suggested that you bookmark this page for easy access.

Once you have a password, you can change your email address by clicking on "preferences" at the top of the page. If you wish to change the way you receive messages (eg., digest form, etc.), click on the growing_foodandjustice list in the "your lists" column on the left (in the case that you have more than one riseup listserv) and/or click on "Subscriber Options" to see the changes you can make. Plain text messages translate better into the digest form than rich text messages, so if you remember to, please use that option when posting to the list.

You can also access attachments in the archives.
